

We are very happy that we engaged Unistruct to build our new home. Stuart and his team demonstrated their high standard of professional workmanship throughout the project.

Contract documentation and management were well handled in detail, and we were well informed with the project progress.

There were some quite stringent building requirements to be met due to the location of our home. We appreciate the time and effort Stuart spent in sourcing the products and having discussions with our architect and the council to finally pull the project through without compromising the original design.

We also had a couple of last-minute changes, include adding an in-ground pool after the house slab was laid. Stuart was very accommodating to the request and worked closely with us and the pool guys to have the work organized without delays.

Stuart is always contactable, during and after the house had been completed. Questions raised were always proactively followed-up till they were answered.

Very happy with our new home for it's build quality and the service received. Thank you Stuart and Team.

Jie& Cath Zhu